CHURCH BUYS MORGAN PLACE

Negotiations pending for the purchase of the home of the late James F. Morgan, since long before his death for the Episcopal church in Hawaii have been concluded. A donation of $16,000 by the late George B. Cluett, a manufacturer of Troy, N. Y., provided the means. The premises will be used for the establishment of the "George B. Cluett Home," as an addition to the already imposing group of church buildings including and adjacent to St. Andrew's cathedral. It will be the home of the elder Priory girls. Possession will be given to the church when Mrs. Morgan's new dwelling on Liliha street is completed.

It is hoped by the church authorities that all the remaining property required to square up the church's area in that vicinity will in time be acquired, when a magnificent view of the grounds will be completed at Beretania and Emma Streets. Bishop Restarick, in nine years past, has succeeded in having land and buildings of the value of $274,000 added to the holdings of the church.

MR. AND MRS. SMART ARRIVE IN SAN FRANCISCO

Of the arrival in San Francisco of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Smart, the San Francisco Bulletin of October 1 says:

Henry G. Smart, graduate of Virginia and Vanderbilt Colleges, accompanied by his wife of two months, who was formerly Thelma Parker, niece of Colonel Samuel Parker and the wealthiest belle in the Hawaiian Islands, arrived in San Francisco this morning on the Pacific Mail steamer Korea, on their honeymoon journey to Norfolk, Va., where the Smart home is located.

The groom is just 21, the bride only 18, yet the two were the most self-possessed passengers on the liner. The wedding, which was celebrated on the Parker plantation near Honolulu, was the most pretentious feast of its kind in the island city's history and lasted for several days. The decorations were most elaborate and native dances and singing were given for the benefit of the assembled guests.

"We had intended leaving Honolulu shortly after the wedding," said Mr. Smart, "but certain things prevented, and this is really our honeymoon. We will stay a day or two in San Francisco, where Mrs. Smart has a large number of friends, and will then proceed to Norfolk, Va., where my father and brothers reside."

Mrs. Smart was clad in a gown of dark material, with a fancy lace neck-piece, a coat of white chinchilla, cloth and a French hat of velvet and feathers. She demurred at the request for photographs, but later compromised, posing with a group of friends on the topmost deck of the Korea.

She has a charming manner and shows unusually good taste in her dress. Although reputed to have much more wealth than Jennie Crocker, who married Malcolm Whitney at San Mateo shortly before the Smart-Parker wedding, Mrs. Smart does not exhibit any affectation. Very little jewelry was worn during her trip across the Pacific, and she was as much a part of the round of social gaieties on the Korea as any of the other women passengers.

On its last previous trip the Korea was the scene of a little misunderstanding between the skipper and the passengers insofar as "ragging" was concerned. Once, when some of the more daring spirits attempted to introduce the "Texas Tommy," word reached them that the captain did not approve and the "ragging" ceased. It remained for a little Hawaiian belle, Emily Magoon, to defy the skipper's wishes and "ragging" was resumed in the face of the captain's edict.

This voyage the Korea's presiding officer let it be known that the ban had been lifted. Rumor had it that the concession had been made because of the presence on board of the Smarts. No matter what the reason, "ragging" was approved, and at a hop given between Honolulu and this port, Mr. and Mrs. Smart "ragged" to their hearts' content.

The romance between Miss Parker and Mr. Smart sprang up following the arrival of the young man in Honolulu last December. He was introduced in social circles in the islands and three months ago word of their engagement reached the mainland. The wedding followed and the young people settled down on one of the Parker estates. They will spend only a few short weeks at the Smart home. Then they will make a tour of the Eastern cities and will return to take up their permanent residence in the "Pearl of the Pacific."

HOSPITAL NURSES GIVE INFORMAL DANCE

The nurses of the Queen's hospital were hostesses at a delightful informal dance Monday evening at their cosy home on Beretania and Punchbowl streets.

The rooms were decorated for the occasion with palms, ferns and pink carnations, while Japanese lanterns here and there threw a soft light on the whole scene, and a bowl of fruit punch, embedded in a mass of ferns in a corner of the dining-room was served with cake and sandwiches throughout the evening. Music was furnished by the Hawaiian quartet. The guests included the Misses Thompson, Grant, Kuhlman, Nichols, Whipple, Riley, De Lackner, Sewall, Ollinger, Wiley, Donner, Pollock, MacLaren, Arnold, and Messrs. Jackson, Thomas, Rothrock, Keeler, Griffiths, MacLaren, Simpson, Lowe, Barton, Meyore, Forrest and Drake.
